

Keynote Sohan Maheshwar, Developer Advocate for Amazon Web Services in the Benelux about '6 technology predictions for the future, and why this matters'

Abstract: 2020 was a year unlike any other. Companies and businesses of all sizes and governments new and old had to change across all facets, and technology helped manage these changes. Rather than slow us down, 2020 accelerated our shift to a digital world, and we won't go back any time soon. This talk is about my tech predictions for the future and will cover everything from Artificial Intelligence, Sustainability in Tech, Blockchain and even Space.

Bio: Sohan is a Senior Developer Advocate based out of Amsterdam, Netherlands. He is deeply passionate about emerging technology and how it is shaping the world around us. He hosts 'The Emerging Tech Show' – a talk show about tomorrow's technology today. He frequently works with developers in startups, small businesses, and enterprises on their cloud strategy.

